I can still remember the vivid colors of the large Bible picture held by my “primary” Sunday School teacher as she told the story of the four friends who loved their paralyzed friend so much that they carried him to Jesus to be healed. When they saw the huge crowd in the doorway, they struggled up to the top of the house and dug through the grass, clay, and tiles to make an opening big enough for the pallet to fit through. Then, carefully lowering their helpless friend directly in front of Jesus, they watched as He said, “take courage, son, your sins are forgiven”<sup>1</sup>

I have thought of this story often as we take our students to Jesus in prayer each day. Knowing that Jesus is the only way for these kids to be healed and seeing that their spiritual paralysis and the crowd are keeping them from meeting Him, we have ascended the only way available to us and knelt to lower them directly in front of Him in daily prayer.

We pray fervently that Jesus will see our faith and change their lives forever with His gaze. We pray that the students will respond as the sinful paralytic apparently did when coming face to face with the Living God. Jesus’ response of “son (an endearing word, like child, with the emphasis on a relationship), your sins are forgiven,” tells us that the gaze of the Living Word was so convicting that the man’s first desire was forgiveness for his sins. Jesus immediately saw his repentant faith and took away his sins.

Only recently, after studying this story, did I see Jesus’ words of forgiveness coming before the physical healing. The glaring need of the man, being in the very presence of God, was that of forgiveness. To be rightly related to God and eternally free from all spiritual paralysis, sin must be removed.

The physical healing Jesus next granted is a picture of the spiritual reality that once forgiven, we are then able to rise up in a new strong body and live the life God originally designed for us. The result is a life so drastically changed that the world responds as the crowd did. They were “amazed.” The Greek work is existemi, which means “astonished, beside themselves, out of their minds.”

The key for us is to persist. No matter what barriers, what heights, what depths we must cross in our prayer life, we must get these students to meet Jesus face to face. He will do the rest.. Those around will be so amazed.

Prayer Guide

In this prayer guide you will find a scripture that we will be using in our prayers for our children each day. The major theme for each day is given below.

Sunday – Fear of God

That they will fear the Lord and see His character

Monday – Salvation

That they would know and love Christ as their Savior

Tuesday – Wisdom

That God would give them a heart of wisdom and that they would put on righteousness and know right from wrong

Wednesday – Hatred of Sin

That they would be protected from the evil one. That they would hate sin and be caught when they do sin

Thursday – Submission

That they would respect and submit to the authority over them, and find joy in obedience

Friday – Friends

That they would desire the right friends and be protected from the wrong friends and crowd

Saturday – Mate & Purity

That they and their future mate will be kept pure for marriage

Wall of Prayer

“Lord, there is no one besides Thee to help in the battle between the powerful and those who have no strength; so help us, O Lord our God, for we trust in Thee, and in Thy name have come against this multitude. O Lord, Thou art our God; let not man prevail against Thee.”
2 Chronicles 14:11
